

Life of Lord Byron (Classic Reprint)

Moreover, I have conversed with persons likely to be able to throw new light upon the facts; and to their courtesy I am indebted, although they elect, for reasons, to keep back the main part of their special information at present. My thanks are due to Mr. S. Mc Calmont Hill for kind permission to publish a hitherto unpublished MS. poem in his possession, called The Monk of A thos, by Lord Byron. It is a fragment only, is in the poets hand-writing, and descended to Mr. Hill from his greatgrandfather, Mr. Robert Dallas, to whom Lord Byron gave it. Only three stanzas of this have I printed, however, because the rest of the poem seemed hardly worthy of Byron sreputation; and when an author has presumedly laid aside a work as unworthy of publication, it appears to me scarcely decent for another person to publish it, merely on account of the celebrity of that authors name. Concerning the date and occasion of this unfinished piece I find no record. The stanzas here given have, I think, a certain fine, characteristic, rhetorical roll of descriptive verse.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
