

I Can Read the Short A Words!: ~This Is How I Taught My Kids to Read~ Book 1

Welcome to my new Learn to Read series. This sample book contains 17 reading/spelling words, 3 Pre-Primer/Primer Sight Words, and 15 Sentences. (Example: The tall rat sat on the ball.) (Prerequisite: This book series is for children who are ready to learn how to read. Your child needs to already know all the letters of the alphabet and the sounds they make without prompting before beginning these books.) Most Beginning Readers on the market today use memorization and flashcards as a Learn to Read method. Memorizing what a word looks like is not the same as reading. At some point, your child will come across a word in a book that they haven't memorized yet and they won't know what to do; or worse they'll just skip it and move on missing out on important information in the story. I'm writing this series to help other parents teach their kids how to actually READ! By breaking the word down into parts, sounding out the parts, and forming the sounds into a word, your child will learn the method necessary to read anything put in front of him/her.
